

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

Miss Alice Downing of Phoenix is a visitor here.

S. C. Dunlap of the Capitol Mills, Phoenix, is in town to-day.

Mrs. Bartholomew of Philadelphia is a guest of the Weatherford.

Frank Beasley was in from Anderson mesa, and reports fine rains in that section.

Mr. Mansen, the mathematician of the Lowell observatory, left for his home in Boston yesterday.

Maude Ashurst, the eight-year-old daughter of Mrs. S. E. Ashurst, on Tuesday climbed in the milk wagon of G. H. Schultz to take a ride. In some manner she fell from the wagon, dislocating her left shoulder and breaking the arm at the elbow. Dr. Brannen, who attended the injured child, reports his patient doing nicely.

The Santa Fe Pacific railroad company is putting four new stalls in the round house at Seligman, making, when completed, twelve stalls in the round house. Plans for a new Harvey eating house at that place have been prepared. It will be of brick and concrete, two stories high and contain twenty rooms in the second story.

Mr. A. E. Douglass, who has been in charge of the Lowell observatory ever since its location here eight years ago, yesterday severed his connection with that prominent and widely known institution. In his work as an astronomer Mr. Douglass has made an excellent record. He is withal a cultured and courteous gentleman, and his host of friends here trust that wherever he may go his lines may fall in pleasant places.

The trestle damaged on the Santa Fe route north of Prescott by a freshet has been repaired and trains moved on regular time Thursday. The freight train which went through the trestle will result in a loss of over $10,000. The only consignment for this city was two carloads of lumber, which were a total loss. In all seven cars went into the wash. The most of them contained goods for stations north of here. The passenger train arrived this morning on time.—Gazette.

Engineer Ralph Goldsworthy returned from a trip to Mexico last Saturday. He was not very favorably impressed with that country. While there, however, he met several old Winslowites. Engineer Ben Workman had a good run out of the City of Mexico. W. C. Davis, another old-time engineer running out of this place, was running a big lathe in the machine shop of the Mexican Central at the City of Mexico, at $7 per day, Mexican money. L. B. Miller, one of our old conductors was brakeling. Gus Englehart, had been running a train, was fired, came to El Paso and was on the El Paso and White Oaks road.—Winslow Mail.

Reading Room Association Lecture.

Mr. E. S. Wilcox, librarian of the public library of Peoria, Ill., and author of the free public library law in the United States, will give a lecture in the public school hall next Tuesday evening at 8:30 sharp. The lecture will be under the auspices of the Reading Room Association, and will be a special number, open to the public generally without tickets or admission charge. The subject of the lecture is "The Chief End of Man in This World," the lecture having been previously delivered before the scientific association of Peoria. Mrs. F. W. Sisson of our town is a daughter of Mr. Wilcox.

DELAYED TRAINS.

Washouts in New Mexico on Tuesday Cause Delay of Three Days.

A special from Santa Fe, N. M., says: Farm crops on both the east and west slopes of the Glorietta range of mountains have been destroyed by the flood. Fences were washed away, and along Torreon creek the corn and oat fields are strewn with drift wood piled five feet high. Between Glorietta and Lamy the public highway is practically obliterated. Just above Canoncito the Galisteo's swift current was from twenty to eighty feet deep.

At numerous points the Santa Fe railroad track is undermined for hundreds of feet. The heavy piling and timber guards that have protected the road for years in the canyon half a mile east of Canoncito are destroyed. In some places the rails and ties for 150 feet are suspended in mid air, twenty feet above what is now the creek bed. Two sixty-foot spans of the steel bridge at Canoncito were carried down stream sixty feet and now lie bottom-side up half buried in the sand.

The famous well at Canoncito was entirely filled with gravel, and from present indications it will require at least five days to repair the road between the top of the mountain and Lamy.

"If Your Eyes Could Talk."

What a story of suffering, abuse and neglect would many tell.
How they cry for help as you turn the pages of some interesting book near the midnight hour.

How they wink and blink as the bright sunlight traveling ten feet from the glaring pavement, or its 95,000,000 miles through space, huris its rays upon a delicate and overworked retina.

If your eyes could talk they would lead you to our doors, and later thank you for the relief and comfort and easy, restful vision our glasses afford.

In lieu of words they cry and ache—thus hint and warn. Will you take the warning, and call in and see Dr. Pratt while he is in Flagstaff?
